Horror Master

Director John Carpenter Tackles Vampires

By Kenneth J. Souza

Filmmaker John Carpenter seems comfortable with his status as the cult director of unique genre films which carefully balance themselves on the myths of the American western and the fast-talking heroes of his mentor, director Howard Hawks. In Carpenter's world, everything is magnified through a prism of practicality ... where good always defeats evil, friendship and honor are paramount, and small doses of humor are just enough to make you forget the chilling horror lurking in the dark.

After nearly 25 years in the business and with 18 films under his belt since graduating from the esteemed University of Southern California Film School in the early 1970's, John Carpenter has returned to familiar territory with Vampires, a rousing horror/western based on the novel by John Steakley about a band of vampire hunters commissioned by the Catholic Church to do battle against the fanged creatures of the night. Starring James Woods, Daniel Baldwin, Sheryl Lee, and Thomas Ian Griffith, it is a movie that's unapologetically violent, thrilling, actionpacked, and just plain fun. In short, it's everything you've come to expect from the mind behind Halloween, Escape from New York, The Thing, and Big Trouble in Little China.

"Vampires is the closest thing I've done to a western," Carpenter said during a promotional junket for the film. "I just don't think that anyone is going to buy (a traditional western) today. There's left-wing westerns, like Dances With Wolves ... (which is) a touchy-feely western. But there's no Rio Bravo nowadays."

Having written only one real western in the classic sense — El Diablo, a made-for-cable TV movie directed by Peter Markle which aired on HBO and garnered Carpenter a Cable Ace Award for Best Screenplay — he seems content to limit his own films to variations on the western theme, and more specifically the works of Howard Hawks.

"Vampires is a Hawksian film," he said. "You've got The Wild Bunch (influence) on one hand, but the relationship between James Woods and Daniel Baldwin is a Hawks relationship. You're talking about Red River, and the end of Red River was controversial because everyone expected Montgomery Clift to kill John Wayne, but they forgave each other. I just ripped it off."

Carpenter's affection for the western genre — and movies in general — can be traced back to his experiences growing up in the American south and discovering those celluloid worlds within the safe confines of his local small-town theater in Bowling Green, Kentucky. In an attempt to escape from what was a decidedly racist community in the Bible belt, he instantly fell in love with science fiction, horror and westerns at an early age.

"I was raised in a small town of about 40,000 people," he said. "I loved science fiction and horror when I was young — I just ate it up like a lot of fans do. There were two theaters downtown that used to be vaudeville theaters at the turn of the century and finally they turned them into movie theaters. I was so isolated from the community (of) racist, Bible-thumping crazies ... I escaped from that life in the theater and fell in love with it.

"The first movie I ever saw was (John Huston's) The African Queen, and I was trying to make sense of what was going on — I was so young then. Then I started asking myself, 'who makes these?' (I knew) there's a man behind this, because I eventually could read the names."

His father, a professor with a Ph.D. in music, gave the young Carpenter an eight-millimeter motion picture camera and encouraged his son to make his own films. That was the beginning of a life-long passion for the future director, who recreated his own mini horror and sci-fi features.

"Basically, I was trying to come to grips with the way the world is ... and some of the real human evils out there," Carpener said. "All the big questions that we ask ourselves. I got interested in the illusion of the horror film — it's kind of fun and it deals with these issues. But instead of it being a human being like me or you, it's a monster, or a vampire, or something that's a myth. It's like a fairy tale, or a legend. So you can deal with a lot of these very serious issues — eternity and evil and death and rebirth — on a formalized, magical level and remain safe that way."

Not only did southern racism have an influence on Carpenter's canon, but also the sense of community and brotherhood which can be found in organized religion. Although he's a self-professed Atheist, he admits to being fascinated by religion, and Vampires follows in the tradition of such films as The Fog, Prince of Darkness and They Live in depicting the church as a source of sanctuary and social order.

"I have a great fascination with God and whether there is one or not," Carpenter said. "I've come to (my belief) personally for my own reasons and my own decisions. But I respect anybody who believes anything, I don't have the ultimate answers."

Carpenter said Vampires even tips the scales toward a more positive view of religion. "This is the only movie I've ever made where you have a hero priest at the end of the film pull out a cross and say 'God has always been with us,'" he said. "This is my view of hope. This is a positive message ... I recommend some of my past films for the negativity."

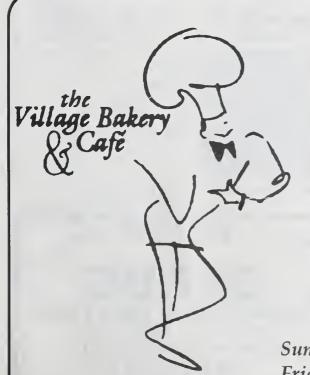

Though Carpenter, like many veteran directors, has had his share of hits and misses over the last 20 years, it would seem that his reputation as a creative artist and his signature style have made him a hot property among actors who enjoy collaborating with a skilled professional.

Indeed, Vampires co-stars James Woods and Daniel Baldwin cited Carpenter as the main selling point for the project.

"I was offered the Vampires script, and I thought, 'Well, I've seen enough vampire movies, I can't watch anymore guys hopping around in tuxedos," Woods said. "The next thing I know, 'Oh, it's John Carpenter and it's really a western' ... well I think I'll do it. John Carpenter loves to make great horror pictures ... he has a vision. We all fail from time to time, but at least he's up to something."

"I've never seen a vampire film that I've liked," added Daniel Baldwin. "When I got the script, I didn't even read it! It said 'Vampires' on the cover and I threw it on a pile of recycled stuff in my office. I got a phone call ten days later from my agent, and she said John Carpenter really wants to see you on that movie. I said, 'Which (script) is John Carpenter?' I went back and read the script."

Oddly enough, Baldwin said that although he has been a longtime Carpenter fan, his favorite film was the director's 1984 sci-fi love story Starman. "It's one of my favorite films," he said. "I've probably seen it about 25 times. I think it's some of Jeff Bridges best work, too."

Even the stories about so-called difficult directors seem to lose their bite when you talk to someone like John Carpenter. Studios will often avoid working with more experienced film makers in exchange for novice directors who "work like a dog all day long and take orders," Carpenter said.

"I have one rule: if you ask me to do anything, I'll do it for you," he said. "If you ask me to change my ending, no problem. If you tell me to do something, then we'll go right down to the death. Don't tell me to do anything. You can ask me ... but be nice."

As with most of Carpenter's films, in Vampires he utilizes not only a distinct visual style and knack for panoramic compositions, but also a tell-tale score which he wrote and arranged himself. In keeping with the film's western and southern flavor, he has composed a tapestry of Texan blues style fusion which is performed by topnotch studio musicians like Steve Cropper and Donald "Duck" Dunn of The Blues Brothers Band.

"My job as a composer is to dramatically support the scene with a musical voice, and music is a totally different art form," Carpenter said. "It's not visual, but it has its own challenges. I am not a virtuoso performer, either. I can't read or write music, it's all improvised. I don't think about them ahead of time. with the movie. I can't read notes but I know the keyboard."

Despite the amount of blood and the level of violence in Vampires, it seems that horror master John Carpenter may finally be mellowing with age — which is somewhat ironic considering that 20 years ago he staked his claim to fame with a small, independent thriller which spawned countless (and much more graphic) imitations and led to the "slasher film" craze of the early 1980's.

"I made Halloween basically when I was getting into the business," he said. "I didn't know the ropes yet, I didn't know what the business was going to be like. I wasn't particularly famous — nobody knew who I was. The world has changed so much in 20 years ... the business has changed now, audiences have changed. I've gone through ups and downs - I've failed and succeeded.'

And after nearly a quarter-century of scaring the hell out of audiences, is there anything which truly scares John Carpenter?

"My biggest nightmare would be making a costume picture in a castle with outfits and accents and people walking around with candles," he said. "I would be lost! I would have no idea what to do in that movie! I just don't get that ... I'm too American for that."

Aspiring Filmmaker Premieres Horror Film By Kenneth J. Souza

With the predominance of independent film productions over the last few years, film schools and Hollywood studios are no longer the only sources of fresh, innovative talent. The next generation of aspiring filmmakers can start out as a video store clerk like Quentin Tarantino (Pulp Fiction) ... or maybe even Adam P. Cray of New Bedford, an employee at Cinema 140 who will premiere his first feature-length production, Mute Elation, this Friday at the theater.

Mr. Cray explained that the 81-minute feature started out as a little 20- to 30-minute project which gradually grew in scope. Its genesis began with a suggestion from co-worker Kevin Leaver. "(Kevin) came up with the idea to do a horror movie ... and I'm a big horror movie fan," Mr. Cray said. "I wrote a basic script and went out and purchased the best video camera that I could (on credit) and we started shooting at Cinema 140. As it went on, it grew and became a lot more than a slasher movie."

The plot of Mute Elation was inspired by the recent success of Scream, written by Kevin Williamson and directed by Wes Craven. It focuses on a mysterious series of killings in and around a movie theater — a set which Mr. Cray had the fortune The Ropewalk Rte. 6 Mattapoisett of using free-of-charge thanks to his boss, Cinema 140 manager Terri Cabral.

"Terri was great ... she was very patient and she allowed us to use the cinema," Mr. Cray said. "We shot from midnight to about 4:00 in the morning some nights. It was like a regular movie set, we had the run of the place. The cast is made up of mostly people who worked there at the time. It's great to have the film premiere there ... we'll be showing it at the same place it was shot."

Photographed on the eight-millimeter video format using a Sony camcorder, Mute Elation was then pieced together with a standard dual-deck video editing system — a process which took about 20 hours. Though the bulk of the feature is in black and white, it opens with a color sequence which then reverts to black and white as a "flashback" device. "I had a pretty crude editing set-up," Mr. Cray said. "It's all simple cuts, no dissolves or effects — but it looks great."

A 1997 graduate of UMass Dartmouth, Mr. Cray was greatly encouraged by Professor Alan Rosen, whose screenwriting course was also a major influence on former student and Academy Award-winner Brian Helgeland (L.A. Confidential). Among his film influences he also cited directors George Lucas, Steven Spielberg, Kevin Smith, John Carpenter, Wes Craven, and particularly Robert Rodriguez, whose book Rebel Without A Crew served as a guide for renegade, low-budget film-making. "(Rodriguez) writes that you don't need a lot of money to go to film school ... you just need to grab a camera and learn," he said. "He was the one that really brought it down to the basics for me."

A Westport native, Mr. Cray hopes Mute Elation will be his ticket to a film-directing career, and he's already planning two follow-up productions as part of a trilogy. "My plan is to do two sequels to the first film, but they're different," he said. "The second film focuses on the investigation into the events of the first film, while the murders continue on the outside. The other employees are knocked off, so the cops are trying to find out who committed these crimes. For whatever reason, it is the employees of the cinema who are (targeted). The sequels have a slew of characters (with) about 40 to 50 speaking parts."

Mute Elation will have its world premiere at Cinema

Mattapoisett Selectmen's Meeting October 27, 1998 By Kenneth J. Souza

A regular meeting of the Mattapoisett Board of Selectmen was called to order on Tuesday, October 27 at 7:00 pm by Chairman Paul E. Lambalot. Also present were Selectman Michele C. Bernier, Selectman Barry J. Denham, and Executive Secretary Carol Adams.

After unanimously approving the minutes of the October 20 meeting and Executive Session with some minor corrections, the board met with Harbormaster Steve Mach and members of the Wharf Commission to discuss the proposed new Harbor Plan with amended fee schedule.

"Over the years we've had wharf regulations and harbor rules ... I've always wanted to combine them," Mr. Mach said. "We went through them with Town Clerk Lois Ennis and made sure the definitions were the same. The changes we made in the rules were mostly for housekeeping purposes. But the real changes here are in the fee schedule for wharf and skiff use. I've always been opposed to raising the fees, but we decided there's a shortage of skiff space."

Mr. Mach went on to explain that there are just under 100 available skiff locations and with a list of some 150 people waiting for space, it was only fair to place a higher premium on this resource. He noted that some people will often just place their skiff in the space and never use it. At a reasonable cost of $50 per year, it's easy to just renew whether it's being used or not. The new Harbor Plan recommended an increase from $50 to $100 per year for skiff space, with a discounted price of $75 for senior citizens.

The new plan also recommends a hike in storage rates for larger boats at the Town Wharf. Mr. Mach said their previous charge of $20 per foot would be increased to $30 per foot during the regular season; and in the winter months, boats which are 25 feet or larger would be charged $25 a month, and those 50 feet and larger, $50 a month. The changes would generate an estimated $12,000 in

After reviewing the proposed Harbor Plan, Selectman Bernier felt that such encompassing changes needed to be discussed in a Public Hearing forum. "I suggest we have a hearing on this ... I have many questions and I think there are still some vague areas," she said. "A Public Hearing will allow us to hear from residents and close the door on naysayers who claim they weren't aware of the fee increase."

"I think people should be heard on the fees — especially when we're doubling them," Selectman Lambalot agreed. "We've been criticized in the past for increasing fees without public input."

The board agreed to hold a Public Hearing during their regular weekly Selectmen's meeting on Tuesday, November 10 at 7:30 pm. All interested residents are encouraged to attend to voice their concerns. The board told Mr. Mach they would vote on the proposed changes immediately after the hearing, so that Town Clerk Lois Ennis could still send out bills at the beginning of

The board then unanimously voted to sign and approve authorization of Chapter 90 funds for fiscal year 1999 in the amount of $163,559 for Mattapoisett; and also authorized the expected amount of $562,703.25 to be expended during the next fiscal year for constructing, maintaining, and policing of town streets under Chapter 81, Section 31 of the Massachusetts General Laws.

Selectmen also granted permission to Richard Bednarz to erect a 3- by 4-foot sign at the entrance to the Mattapoisett Corporate Park announcing a warehouse sale at LogoAthletic on Saturday, November 21.

Under incoming correspondence for the week, the board received a letter from Cynthia Paige, Director of the Mattapoisett Council on Aging, advising that the COA sends out weekly updates to all press organizations and a newsletter is also sent to some 592 seniors (aged 72 and older) in Mattapoisett once a month advising of upcoming events. Ms. Adams explained that last week Selectman Bernier had suggested that COA updates be included on the Selectmen's agenda since she felt many people didn't know about upcoming events.

In a series of correspondence from Police Chief James F.

Moran, he advised the board of the following:

• The Police Department has been awarded a $16,000 Community Policing Grant from the state for fiscal year 1999;

• The department has also received a $6,000 grant for the fiscal year 1999 DARE Grant Program;

• The 1989 unmarked police cruiser has been taken out of service and has been replaced with a new unmarked vehicle purchased with Police Drug Seizure monies; and Chief Moran noted that Daniel Goodman had requested copies of the police logs from January 1 through October 15, 1999.

Dennis and Diane Perry also sent the board a copy of their letter to Trudy Coxe thanking her and everyone involved in the recent state purchase of the Brandt Point property. The letter was also signed by 101 Mattapoisett residents — 34 from Brandt Island Road and Leisure Shores, 39 from Brant Beach Avenue, and 28 from other parts of town. Ms. Perry also noted that several of the signatures were from members of the Brandt Beach Association.

Ms. Adams reminded residents that those interested in serving on the GIS Study Committee should contact the Selectmen's office either by phone, mail, or in person. They hope to appoint a seven-member committee to study the feasibility of purchasing a GIS system for the town.

Selectman Bernier also made another plea for people to

At 7:50 pm the board unanimously voted to go into Executive Session with Daniel McIntyre, Jr. to discuss a potential land purchase under Exemption 6 of the Open Meeting Law. They would thereafter return to open session for the sole purpose of adjourning for the evening.

Marion Selectmen's Meeting October 27, 1998 By Ilana L. Mackin

A regular meeting of the Marion Board of Selectmen was called to order on Tuesday, October 27 at 7:00 pm by Chairman Albert E. Winters. Also present were Selectman Loretta B. Schaefer, Selectman Jonathan (Jody) Dickerson, Secretary Helene Craver, and Executive Secretary Ray Pickles.

At 7:00 pm the first order of business was the acceptance of warrants 18, 17 and 17A. Next to be addressed on the agenda were issues of correspondence which included the request for the Marion Music Hall Foundation to hold its workshop on March 20 of the coming year, to which no objections were held.

A letter from the VFW Post Commander Mario Tortora was reviewed to hold the Veterans Day Parade this year in Marion, as the circulation process makes it way through the Tri-Town area. Everyone is invited on Wednesday, November 11 to join in the observance festivities beginning at 12:30 pm at the corner of Main and Spring Streets in Marion. The parade will take off promptly at

1:30 pm. Prize ceremony will take place at the disbanding area where refreshments will be available. Selectman Winters concluded the all-in-favor ruling by remarking: "I'll be there."

Secretary Helene Craver's memo for the annual license renewal fees, dated October 27, provided a list of fees that range from an Auctioneer at $2 to Off-Premise consumption, wine and malt ranging from $150 to $1500. Selectman Schaefer suggested the board take this under advisement to review the list over the weekend and the motion was taken by all to do so.

Shellfish Officer Charles Bradley notified the board in a letter dated October 27 that he was advised by Greg Sawyer of the Massachusetts Division of Marine Fisheries that Marion Inner Harbor will open to all shellfishing on November 1, 1998. Written notification will follow shortly from his office. This information was duly noted and accepted by the board.

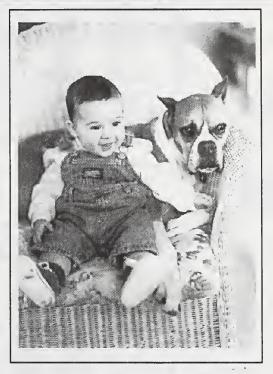

The next letter reviewed was from the Department of Environmental Protection (DEP) regarding the soon to begin important initiative to further ensure clean, safe drinking water supplies. The DEP is seeking program development guidance from a wide range of people who have worked with them on drinking water issues in the past and notes that public participation is the key the new Source Water Assessment Program (SWAP) that will be carried out in a two-year project in every state under requirements of the federal Safe Drinking Water Act Amendments of 1996.

Public meetings on the issue will be held as follows: November 2 from 1:00 to 3:00 pm at the DEP Headquarters, One Winter Street, Boston; November 12 from 1:00 to 3:00 pm at the Metropolitan District Commission Facility, West Boylston; November 17 from 7:00 to 9:00 pm at the Northampton City Council Chambers and November 19 from 7:00 to 9:00 pm at the DEP

THE LEASE BUYOUT

Here is the problem. You have decided to buy a two-family house jointly with a relative. The price is right, but only one half of the house will be available at the time of purchase — the seller's half. The tenant still has six months to go on his lease and plans to remain. You want to occupy both units at the time of purchase. Is there a solution?

Since you do not desire to wait out the rental term, a solution to the problem could be a lease buy-out. The tenant under lease will obviously know that the lease will not be renewed.

however, he might be agreeable to vacate if offered a cash inducement to do so. Lease buy-outs are very common in commercial real estate and might be applicable to this situation.

By purchasing property with the assistance of an experienced residential agent, you gain considerable advantage in working with someone who can negotiate both with the seller and with existing tenants to suit your objective.

At 7:10 pm, with all correspondence issues reviewed in completion and fully accepted, Mr. Pickles discussed the issues of the DPW on behalf of DPW Superintendent Rob Zora who was unable to attend the meeting. The estimates for the Wastewater Treatment Facility's ultraviolet (UV) treatment plan for the addition of a fourth lagoon to accommodate additional stormwater runoff.

The initial estimates were for $90,000 have been recalculated at approximately $85,000, with a break down as follows: $18,000 for engineering costs, $15,000 for the brook piping, $10,500 for pipe clean-up (that has already been done), $10,500 for wetland repairs and construction in the area of the end of the 18-inch line down to the edge of the salt marsh with a total cost of $31,000. Another article for $65,000 for sand and filtration and an additional for $35,000 towards the compliance permit will also be needed.

Mr. Pickles went on to explain that a four-week series of clean metal sample testing at a cost of $2,050 per week will be done in connection with the normal copper computer testing. Under the compliance permit they will have 91 days to present the EPA and the DEP with a written response of their findings. Nine financial articles have been requested for this project thus far and by its finish.

It being 7:20 pm, the board met with its only appointment of the evening, Graham Quinn, Commodore of the Beverly Yacht Club, located at 99 Water Street. The matter being brought to the board was that of the issue they discussed at a previous meeting regarding the public complaints of parking problems in relation to the club and functions. Mr. Quinn began by stating that since they met last month the club put together some initial plans to eliminate problems with parking and Susan Mead, a club member, will address the board on the progress of that matter.

Ms. Mead continued to discuss the suggestions presented at the last board meeting regarding club members working with the public to inform and encourage consideration of the community and neighbors that the problems raised may be affecting. She reported that the club now has a committee established, for which she introduced herself as the chairman, consisting of four to five people who will meet on a monthly basis and will produce a monthly newsletter and eventually utilize a web page that is now in the making. All of which will provide information to the residents and public of meeting dialogues, race dates and functions to be held by the club and parking arrangements and other related issues.

The club has elected to work with Barden's Boatyard to provide parking for club staff and members. There will be as many as 20 spaces made available and they are working to implement that plan fully. Though several employees of the club were reluctant at first to take this route — as a concern for safety when leaving at late hours of the night with a dim light street and washed out road. But Mr. Quinn said that with persuasion and assurance that Barden's and the Club will be looking into providing better light sources for the street.

Mr. Pickles suggested that Com/Electric be contacted to look into lighting issues for the area further. Selectman Winters' main concern was that the 20 spaces at the boatyard would be enough to accommodate the problem, including staff and members on a busy day. Mr. Quinn felt it would be sufficient. Others had made earlier suggestions that the Town House parking area be used as well if necessary.

The club also would be looking into providing a launching service on Wednesday nights from the boatyard dock area. Mr. Quinn, as agreed by the board, doesn't want Barden's Boatyard to suffer any expense due to the solution that has been completely voluntary on their part as they have had nothing to do with the problem at hand. Their cooperation and initiative to help has been most appreciated.

Past recommendations to solve the parking problem as Mr. Quinn quoted Police Chief Brian Scott as saying that perhaps more aggressive ticketing in the area during the season and the increase in ticket violation fees may make an impression on those who park in off-limit zones.

The club is planning to open on Memorial Day weekend. Selectman Schaefer suggested that the town look into painting the curbs sooner than usual to accommodate that date. Selectman Dickerson noted that could be done in one or two days. Selectman Schaefer also suggested that the club make a plan to publish parking rules and regulations in their newsletter prior to opening so that the potential for downtown congestion can be made a large concern. Mr. Quinn found that to be an excellent idea and they will be using the publication and word of mouth to best communicate with the community. Chairman Winters thanked them for their efforts to solve the problems at hand.

With no other business to come before the board, they unanimously voted to enter Executive Session to discuss a personnel matter and would thereafter adjourn for the evening.

TICKS

Last year, my dog got 10-20 ticks a day. How can I stop that from happening this year?

Your veterinarian may stock Preventic tick collars. These collars will minimize the number of ticks that get embedded in your dog. A new product called Frontline is also available from your veterinarian as a spray or drops. Frontline will kill ticks, as well as fleas, on dogs and cats for a month.

How can I remove the ticks that he gets?

Grasp the tick near its head with tweezers or a tick spoon and pull gently. Rubber gloves or a napkin will protect your hands in case you accidently rupture a tick that is engorged with blood.

Can tick bites make my dog sick?

Unfortunately, ticks carry Lyme Disease and Rocky Mountain Spotted Fever, both of which are very common in this area. The most common symptom of these diseases in dogs is lameness.

Counsel contract, however they were open to meeting and discussing options with interested law firms.

Mr. Johnson explained that he had, until recently, been contracted as Town Counsel for the town of Westport and also has worked with the town of Swansea, where for the past 19 years he has been directly involved with negotiating collective bargaining agreements. He has experience with both probate and tax law, and is very skilled with zoning issues. "In my career, I've probably tried more zoning cases than any other matter," Mr. Johnson said. "That's more or less become my area of expertise."

Chairman Cutler noted that the town doesn't have many pending legal issues right now, but they are about to reopen contract negotiations with the police union for fiscal year 2000. The board thanked Mr. Johnson for coming in to meet with them.

After recessing briefly, the board reconvened at 7:00 pm and proceeded with unanimous approval of the October 5 and October 13 meeting minutes (with some corrections). As a side note, Chairman Cutler noted that the emPOWERment group has voted to support Question 3 on the upcoming state election ballot dealing with deregulation of electric suppliers. "According to recent figures, Rochester residents have saved about $152,343 since (electricity) has been deregulated," he said.

The board next considered the December 2 Special Election sole ballot question, requesting voters to allocate $3 million on an override to fund the construction and design of a new public safety facility. There was some debate as to whether the estimated $250,000 for land purchase should be included in the override.

"It could be a sticking point with voters if they are asked to override the full amount with $1 million sitting in the Stabilization Fund," Selectman Parker said. "Right now, the way the question is worded, it doesn't include the purchase of the land. It can be changed, but it must be changed tonight so the warrant can be posted 35 days prior to the election."

"I thought the consensus had been to fund the bonding issue on the override, but to find other means to purchase the land," Chairman Cutler added.

Finance Committee (FinCom), both boards agreed to reword the question to encompass both the land purchase and the design and construction of the building. As such, the question was amended to ask voters to approve a Proposition 2 1/2 override of $3,250,000 for the entire project, land inclusive.

At 7:30 pm, the board opened a Dog Hearing on a complaint filed by Sharon Blanchard of Taber Lane against Donna Young of Taber Lane. According to Ms. Blanchard, Ms. Young's two dogs are out all day and constantly bark. She also said that the smaller dog "yips" incessantly.

"It's a continuous thing ... the barking has been ongoing since July," Ms. Blanchard said. "(One of her dogs) came after me ... it's just aggressive behavior (and) we're afraid of the dogs."

Neighbor Tara Blanchard agreed, noting that she is required to take daily walks as part of her physical therapy, but cannot for fear of the unrestrained dogs. "I went out walking one day and the bigger dog came after me," she said. "(Ms. Young) was at the door and she didn't do anything. I want to be able to go into my yard without hearing the dogs (barking) and without being afraid of them. The dogs don't listen to her ... she doesn't have any control over them."

Another neighbor, Tim Furtado, said he works the third shift and hears the dogs when he leaves at night and when he comes back home in the morning. "I just had my yard re-landscaped and I'm finding holes in my yard and dog droppings," he said. "She can have all the dogs she wants, as long as I don't have to hear them or see them on my property."

Resident Janice Lewis, who resides upstairs from Ms. Young, tried to offer some explanation as to why the puppy is always barking. "Right now, the dog is being trained," she said. "I realize the 'yipping' carries, but I think we need to give it some time.

Ms. Young said she works odd hours and isn't home much during the day, but she never received any complaints about her bigger dog, Alexis, until she took in the stray puppy. "I don't believe in dogs being locked in a house," she said. "They've only been out in the yard a few times ... I'm taking (the older dog) for training."

Dog Officer Tom Medeiros noted that on the occasions where he's been called to Ms. Young's house, the dogs are quiet and under control when he arrives. "It seems to rne the problem is more with the puppy ... the one that's 'yapping' all the time," he said.

After hearing further testimony from both sides, Chairman Cutler explained that under Massachusetts General Laws, Chapter 157, the board can determine whether Ms. Young's dogs are a nuisance to neighbors and thereby issue some type of restraining order.

As such, Selectman Parker moved that Ms. Young's two dogs be restrained to her property at all times, that they be kept in the rear of her property on a run, and that they be allowed off her property only when on a leash between the hours of 8:00 pm and 8:00 am. The board unanimously approved the motion, with the understanding that the Dog Officer and Executive Secretary will review the matter in 30 days.

Under the Executive Secretary's report, Mr. Huntoon advised the board that Highway Surveyor Jeff Eldridge needs to fill one position in his department. Scott Chadwick has been recommended to fill in temporarily, but requires an exemption from the Conflict of Interest Law under Section 20F since he also works as a call firefighter. The board unanimously voted to grant Mr. Chadwick a special exemption under the Conflict of Interest Law for 30 days until a permanent candidate is hired.

The board received notification from the Executive Office of Public Safety that the Rochester Police Department has been awarded $16,000 for the 1999 Community Policing Grant Program. Mr. Huntoon said he informed Chief Walter Denham that he needs to come before the board to report on how he's like to spend the money. Chairman Cutler wished to congratulate Chief Denham on receiving the grant award.

The board next received notice that the Rochester

Lions Club and Friends are hosting the First Annual Halloween Parade on Saturday, October 31 beginning at 4:00 pm at Bradford Estates. The parade will proceed to the Rochester Grange Hall, where judging will take place. Organizers Carolyn Pruchnick and Marissa Hughes requested the board's participation in the judging of costumes. All board members said they planned to attend. Prizes will be awarded for Best Costume in the following categories: Preschool to Kindergarten, Grades 1 and 2, Grades 3 and 4, and Grades 5 and 6.

Mr. Huntoon also advised the board that Town Treasurer John Hall wanted to make them aware that the Internal Revenue Service (IRS) will be changing the process for paying contract vendors out of town coffers. These vendors will no longer be filed under Form 1099 after January 1, 1999, and will be considered regular employees of the Town of Rochester.

The board was concerned that this would have an adverse effect on the budget. "I'd recommend that we get this information to (Town Accountant) Claudette Coutu and have her work up something for us and the Finance Committee so we know what kind of changes to expect," Selectman Ryan said. "It will effect the town payroll ... and I want to know how it's going to effect police details."

The board next reviewed the proposed warrant articles for the November 16 Special Town Meeting. Presently there are 19 articles up for voter consideration, and the board and members of the FinCom looked over each article so that the warrant might be posted by next week. Among the major money articles: $3,250,000 for the Public Safety Building Construction and Land Purchase (Article 4); $10,000 to cover appraisals of future land acquisitions (Article 12); $7,555 to supplement the $12,445 previously approved for the purchase of a sander cab/ chassis for the Highway Department (Article 18); and $18,000 to upgrade the vapor recovery and fueling dispenser system for the municipal gas fueling station on Dexter Lane (Article 19).

There being no further matters to come before the board, they unanimously voted to adjourn for the evening.

Letters to the Editor

To the Editor:

Next week we go to vote, not only for governor and other officers, but also for several initiative petitions. Please consider Question #2 in particular, the Clean Election Initiative.

The Clean Election Law would:

To the Editor:

The state acquisition of the 212-acre parcel known as Brandt Point (formerly the Nunes Estate) is a tremendous asset for the town of Mattapoisett as well as all state residents. The Department of Environmental Management has acquired the land for the purpose of "passive recreation."

Many residents want to know what "passive recreation" is. According to a DEM representative passive recreation activities include hiking, walking, nature trails, birdwatching, beach-combing, picnicking and cross-country skiing. Activities that are generally NOT included are camping, motorbiking and swimming. There will be a management planning process to work out the details for this property.

The majority of the residents of Mattapoisett approve, accept and welcome the land acquisition. The town now knows what is going to happen to the property. Since the announcement of the purchase a week ago the site has had many visitors who are in awe of the natural beauty that will now be available for everyone to enjoy and appreciate.

Some town residents have been reserved, or openly negative about the purchase because they are disappointed about the perceived loss of "the last hope to get water and sewer to the area in (their) lifetime." These concerns will be alleviated when they learn that there are other solutions. We have already heard that State Representative (William) Straus knows something about these alternatives. Also, we have a very capable Water and Sewer Department. And we have only to look to West Island in Fairhaven to see a recent example of a successful solution to a similar situation.

Our sincere gratitude is extended to Trudy Coxe, Secretary of Environmental Affairs, to Mark Rasmussen, Executive Director of Coalition for Buzzards Bay, and to

I've had a history of chronic low back pain and headaches since having an epidural during child birth 16 years ago.
In my work as a waitress the pain wold become intense but I was still able to function. Recently the pain became so severe I was unable to work, in fact I was barely able to walk. My mother suggested I see Dr. Dunton and I'm so glad I did, the low back pain and headaches I have lived with for 16 years are gone and I have more energy then I've had in years.

Please don't wait sixteen years like I did. See Dr. Dunton and give Chiropractic the opportunity to help you too.

Mattapoisett's Halloween Parade

The traditional and always-popular Halloween Parade in Mattapoisett will take place on All Hallow's Eve this year — Saturday night, October 31 beginning at 6:30 pm. Participating ghouls and goblins will form at the front entrance to Center School (near the Leeward Restaurant) to follow the parade route through the town center. Candy will be provided to all participants, and special prizes will be awarded for the best costumes in each age category (Kindergarten through high school) and other select categories (Funniest, Scariest).

Lieutenant Edwin Pina of the Mattapoisett Police Department noted that only one prize will be given for each display or multi-costume entry, and prizes will be awarded to Mattapoisett residents only (proof of residency will be required). This year, glow sticks will be provided to all parade participants.

Donations are now being accepted to help purchase prizes and candy for the event. Designated donation cans are now on display at local businesses, and gifts can also be made at the Mattapoisett Police Department through October 31.

Halloween Parade in Rochester

On Saturday, October 31, the Rochester Lions Club and Friends will be hosting a Halloween Parade for the children of Rochester. The parade will begin at 4:00 pm in the Bradford Estates and end at the Grange Hall on Hartley Road. There will be treats for all and prizes will be awarded in the following categories: Preschool and Kindergarten; Grades 1 and 2; Grades 3 and 4; and Grades 5 and 6. Come join in for some good, old bewitching fun! Anyone wishing to make a donation can do so by sending it in care of: Rochester Lions Club, P.O. Box 36, Rochester,

Marion Art Center

Painting Exhibit

A one-man exhibition of paintings by Willoughby Elliott is now on display at the Marion Art Center. Mr. Elliott is a professor of painting at UMass Dartmouth. The current exhibition will feature a body of new work, primarily landscapes done in acrylic on linen. They are very atmospheric, capturing the light and feeling of these special places.

The show will run through November 20. Gallery hours are: Tuesday through Friday, 1:00 to 5:00 pm; and Saturday, 10:00 am to 2:00 pm. Admission is FREE.

"House of Blue Leaves"

Rehearsals are underway for the Marion Art Center's fall theater production of "The House of Blue Leaves," a farce by John Guare to be presented November 13, 14, 19, 20, 21 at 8:00 pm with a 2:00 pm performance on November 15. The play was a winner of the Critics Award and the Obie Award for Best American Play in 1971. The plot focuses on the plight of a late-middle-age zoo attendant who still has lingering visions of being a songwriter. These hopes are supported by his mistress who lives downstairs. On the day the Pope is coming to New York, his son comes home AWOL from Fort Dix carrying a bomb with which he intends to blow up the Pope in Yankee Stadium. Enter a group of nuns from the roof who are trying to get a glimpse of His Holiness. There are more wacky characters, some from show biz in

MOVIE REVIEW

■ Apt Pupil. Starring lan McKellen and Brad Renfro. Directed by Bryan Singer. Running time: 112 minutes. MPAA rating: R. At Cinema 12 at the North Dartmouth Mall.

Stephen King's Different Seasons, his 1982 collection of novellas, has yielded three excellent movies: Stand By Me, The Shawshank Redemption, and now Apt Pupil. (The fourth story, The Breathing Method, remains unfilmed — and probably unfilmable.) Of the three, Apt Pupil is easily the riskiest and toughest, both as a story in itself and as a challenge for filmmakers. At least one set of adapters took a whack at it, and were only eleven days away from a wrap before the plug was pulled and the film shelved. Plagued by delays, legal hassles, and the problems of the material itself, this film has had the longest, most difficult pregnancy in recent memory.

Fortunately, Apt Pupil has two skillful sets of hands to deliver it: director Bryan Singer (who made the coolly intricate puzzle The Usual Suspects) and first-time screenwriter Brandon Boyce, a Singer associate who acted in Singer's 1992 debut Public Access. It also has a master to cut the cord from King's book and slap it into its own chilling life: Ian McKellen as Kurt Dussander, the Blood Fiend of Patin, a Nazi war criminal hiding in the peaceful, leafy suburbs. Apt Pupil would be wellcrafted without McKellen; with him, it's haunting — a true horror movie.

Dussander, posing as "Arthur Denker," is visited one day by Todd Bowden (Brad Renfro), a straight-A student with an unnatural interest in the Holocaust. He recognizes Dussander from old photographs, and he strikes a deal with the old man: Todd will keep quiet if Dussander will regale Todd with stories of what really happened in the death camps all the gory details they leave out in school. At first disgusted, Dussander soon warms to his storyteller role, reliving (in more ways than one) his unspeakable past. And we watch as his influence rubs off on Todd.

Stephen King's novella is perhaps unique among his work in that it's genuinely evil. I don't mean that as a criticism but as a sort of compliment: King went further than he'd ever gone (and has ever gone since), climbing into the heads of his old and young monsters, and he took us with him, at length - an ugly and undeniably compelling experience that makes us question ourselves: If we're ready to condemn Todd for hanging on Dussander's every word, what does that make us for reading it? The novella is bizarre and mechanistic and compulsively readable — maybe the closest King has come to his version of art.

Unfortunately, toward the end of his story, King took a sharp left turn into pulp. Singer and Boyce have wisely altered the ending, making it much more subtle, and have also muted some of the novella's gorier bits. What remains is still challenging. We see that Dussander is a monster and that Todd is becoming one, yet the basic conventions of narrative force us into complicity with them — force us to hope they don't get caught. When the two put one over on Todd's dweeby guidance counselor (David Schwimmer, whose milquetoast persona works for the first time in a movie), we're meant to enjoy their deception — and Brad Renfro is decent as Todd, though he differs sharply from King's Todd (who started out as a cheerful Boy Scout type). We don't perceive much of a change in his personality - he's unsmiling and withdrawn right from the start. Somebody like the amiable, funny Seth Green, from Austin Powers and Buffy the Vampire Slayer, might have truly frightened us by changing from a nice kid into a beast. Still, Renfro holds his own up there with Ian McKellen, who gives one of the year's great performances. McKellen plays Dussander as a withered husk who comes to life when reminded of the butcher he once was. He makes Dussander human, and therefore all the more monstrous. Apt Pupil can't go as far or as deep as King did; fiction writers have pages and pages to depict their characters' inner workings, but a movie, at a certain point, has to stop and hope it has an actor strong enough to fill in the blanks. This movie does.

This Week's Horoscope

by Linda Black

Aries (March 21-April 19). Follow orders quickly and precisely. The action will be fast and furious and there won't be time to argue.

Taurus (April 20-May 20). Travel with a partner or plan your next vacation. If you can't go yet, at least have dinner out at a foreign restaurant. Everyone seems cantankerous, even Gemini (May 21-June 21). The money is available, if you know where to look for it. Start by reading up on the subject. Travel beckons, though work interferes.

Cancer (June 22-July 22). A partner's got a great idea. Encourage the other's creativity and you prosper, too. Do paperwork to get money and try to get off work early.

Leo (July 23-Aug. 22). The workload is tough, but don't complain. You'll have the help you need, especially if you set it up that way.

Virgo (Aug. 23-Sept. 22). You're intensely passionate and very lucky in love. Looks like that'll be fun. Make decisions at work to streamline your procedures.

Libra (Sept. 23-Oct. 23). Put money into household items. It's a good investment. An attractive admirer is impressed with your taste.

Scorpio (Oct. 24-Nov. 21). Practice new skills to advance in your career. Watch out for technical difficulties at home.

Sagittarius (Nov. 22-Dec. 21). You're in a practical mood, so make buying decisions. A secret source is your best bet. Study issues carefully before you make your decisions.

Capricorn (Dec. 22-Jan. 19). You're strong and friends heed your advice. Make an investment in a dream you've long held hidden. It's just a question of saving your money.

Aquarius (Jan. 20-Feb. 18). You're under pressure and it's pointless to resist. Go along with the program. You're stronger soon.

Pisces (Feb. 19-March 20). Your friends provide inspiration, but you may wish you had a map to find your way through a maze.

If You're Having a Birthday This Week: If you focus on learning this year, you'll surprise even yourself with your brilliance. The more you practice, the better you'll get, until you surpass all expectations.

Plumb Library Gets Grant

The Plumb Memorial Library in Rochester is pleased to announce that they recently were awarded a $6,000 federal grant by the Massachusetts Board of Library Commissioners which will focus on early childhood.

Recent scientific studies in brain research provide compelling evidence that the most crucial years for human brain development are in the first five years of life. According to the MBLC, libraries have an important role to play in the intellectual development of very young children, especially in the development of language skills. Preschool programming and educational activities and materials can help establish a foundation on which language skills are built. Another role for libraries is that of educating parents and caregivers to the importance of these early language experiences.

The grant funds will be used to purchase library materials targeted to children from six months to age five, with an emphasis on children 3 and under. Materials will include books, videos, audio cassettes, computer

MASSACHUSETTS SCHOOL SUPERINTENDENCY UNION NO. 55 Marion, Mattapoisett, and Rochester, Massachusetts

PUBLIC NOTICE To: Students or residents planning to attend Bristol County Agricultural High School or Diman Regional Vocational School, or post secondary vocational programs from the towns of Marion, Mattapoisett, or Rochester.

General Laws Chapter 74, Section 7 guarantees a student the right to a vocational education in the subject area of his/her choice. If a student resides in a city or town which does not offer an approved Chapter 74 program in the chosen subject area (either at the comprehensive high school or at a regional vocational school to which the city or town belongs), the student may apply to another vocational school which offers the program. The student must be accepted by the vocational school. The student must make their intention to attend such a school known to the Superintendent of Schools by April 1 of the preceding school year. This notice applies to the 1999-00 school year.

Parents of secondary school children planning to attend such a school should contact the school authorities. At the Old Rochester Regional High School, contact James R. Egan, Principal, at 758-3745. At the Old Rochester Regional Junior High School, contact Gary Maestas, Principal, at 758-4928.

Post high school residents should make their requests in writing to the Superintendent of Schools, 135 Marion Road, Mattapoisett, MA 02739 by February 1 of the preceding school year. Elizabeth A. Quinn, Superintendent of

MASSACHUSETTS SCHOOL SUPERINTENDENCY UNION NO. 55 Marion, Mattapoisett, and Rochester, Massachusetts PUBLIC NOTICE

Children aged three through twenty-one found to be in need of special education are entitled to services from the school system. Anyone in the community who knows of a student who might need special services should contact either the local school or the Administrator of Special Education at 748-2192. We will provide information about the "rights of parents and children" and about how to access appropriate services.

Our school systems provide much planning information to the State Department of Education. These documents are public. Copies are available in the Special Education office located at the Sippican School, Marion, Massachusetts. We are open to answering questions and accepting comments about special education in any of our schools. Any parents or member of the community who would like to have input into our planning for special education should call the Administrator of Special Education at 748-

Recently passed laws forbid your school system to discriminate against its staff and students on the basis of sex, national origin, marital status, race, color, or religion. These laws outlaw discrimination in school admissions, admission to courses of study, guidance, course content, and extracurricular and athletic activities. If you have any questions or concerns regarding these laws and how they affect your children, please do not hesitate to contact your local principal or the Superintendent's Office. Copies of the law and regulations can be obtained from the Bureau of Equal Educational Opportunity, 182 Tremont Street, Boston, MA 02111, or the Director of the Office of Civil Rights, Region One of the U.S. Department of Health, Education and Welfare.

OLD ROCHESTER REGIONAL SCHOOL DISTRICT

MASSACHUSETTS SCHOOL SUPERINTENDENCY UNION NO. 55 Marion, Mattapoisett, and Rochester, Massachusetts

NONDISCRIMINATION NOTICE The Old Rochester Regional School District and the Massachusetts School Superintendency Union No. 55, Marion, Mattapoisett, and Rochester, Massachusetts is committed to equal employment and educational opportunity for all members of the school community. Students and employees are protected from discrimination on the basis of race, color, religion, national origin, sex, sexual orientation, age, and disability.

The schools are also committed to maintaining a school and work environment that is free of harassment based on race, color, religion, national origin, sex, sexual orientation, age, or disability. Harassment includes physical or verbal conduct that is derogatory; this may include jokes, gestures, unsolicited remarks, or other behavior that creates an intimidating or offensive working or learning environment.

A student or employee who has a concern about discrimination or harassment should inform the principal or the Assistant Superintendent, who will take appropriate steps to attempt to resolve the situation, such as discussion with involved persons, identifying and questioning of witnesses, and other appropriate steps. In most cases, a resolution will be achieved. However, if it is determined that a hearing is warranted, a hearing will be held before the Superintendent of Schools or a person that he or she may designate.

The goals of the above grievance procedures are to resolve complaints in a fair and timely manner and to ensure compliance with nondiscriminatory procedures. Additionally, reprisals or retaliation against any individual who reports on, or files a discrimination or harassment complaint is strictly prohibited.

If you wish to discuss your rights, would like further information, or want to obtain help in filing a complaint, you may contact Carol Young. The telephone number is (508) 758-2772. Any person having inquiries concerning the School District's compliance with the regulations implementing Title VI, Title IX, Section 504, ADA, or Chapter 622 is directed to contact Carol Young, who has been designated by the School District to coordinate the District's efforts to comply with the regulations of implementing Title VI, Title IX, Section 504, ADA, and Chapter 622, That's right, due to popular demand the "Great Aardvark Search" is back and we have new prizes! For 12 weeks (Sept. 24-Dec. 17) we will be giving away the aardvark's cousin, 'Ants the Anteater" an original TY Beanie Baby. After the last week, all entries will be put into a final drawing for "Glory" also a TY original, just in time for Christmas! For those of you not familiar with this practice, here's how it works. Each week we hide a little aardvark (shown above, actual size) somewhere in the newspaper (not counting the aardvark above). If you find him (or even if you don't) you can send in a postcard with your name and phone number to the address below to enter our Aardvark Drawing! Send entries to: Aardvark, P.O.. Box 102, Mattapoisett, MA 02739. Enter as many times as you like, you can only win once. A list of winners is available at our office, 55 County Road, Mattapoisett. We can not answer questions about the giveaway over the telephone, if you win we will notify you.

been meeting for over a year in anticipation of competition in the marketplace for electricity," said President Wojnar. "Each of the eight towns were granted formal approval via Town Meeting to join SouthCoast EmPOWERment and our compact has been approved by six of the eight members."

"This is regionalism at its best," Mr. Wojnar added. "These eight towns should be congratulated on their willingness to work together. Because the eight communities are now working together, we will have the advantage of being able to negotiate very favorable electric rates. We are very excited to move forward but at the same time we are keeping a close eye on ballot Question #4, as a 'no' vote would have a negative impact

The Commonwealth of Massachusetts

A Proclamation

By His Excellency

WHEREAS: American Freemasonry was created in Massachusetts in 1733 and today is represented by 289 Masonic Lodges in more than 170 communities in the Commonwealth; and

WHEREAS: Freemasonry unites men of diverse business, educational, ethnic, and religious backgrounds, who are united under common beliefs, morals, and ethics; and

WHEREAS: Past American Freemasons include such notable figures, each of who inspired and led efforts to establish and preserve personal liberty and religious freedom, as Paul Revere, John Hancock, Joseph Warren, 29 signers of the Declaration of Independence, 20 signers of the United States Constitution, and 15 Presidents of the United States; and

WHEREAS: Contributing internationally more than $2 million to charities each day towards the betterment of mankind,

Freemasonry generously improves the quality of life for many individuals regardless of race, religion, sex, or nationality; and

WHEREAS: In Massachusetts alone, Freemasonry collects more than 20,000 pints of blood annually, provides more than $200,000 in college scholarship assistance annually, promotes child safety through DARE and Child

Identification Programs, operates a living and health care facility for elders, and supports numerous local and national charities; and

WHEREAS: It is appropriate for all Massachusetts citizens to recognize the many contributions made to improve the quality of life by the Freemasons;

NOW, THEREFORE, I, ARGEO PAUL CELLUCCI, Governor of the Commonwealth of Massachusetts, do hereby proclaim October 31", 1998, to be and urge all the citizens of the Commonwealth to take cognizance of this event and participate fittingly in its observance.

Given at the Executive Chamber in Boston, this twenty-first day on August, in the year of our Lord one thousand nine hundred and ninety-eight, and of the Independence of the United States of America, the two hundred and twenty-third
